

Study Group for the ASHK Examination

We understand candidates have different learning styles. If you find that meeting with small study groups enables you to study more effectively, please contact the ASHK to show your interest. We can help connect with interested candidates to start study groups. Thereafter the study group members will contact each other directly. This service is free-of-charge.

Key Highlights:

- Study groups may meet at agreed-upon times in locations convenient to most of the candidates in the group.
- Benefits: You are able to meet others in the industry and build your network of contacts.
- This is optional. It is an exclusive benefit to the ASHK Examination candidates

Please contact the ASHK Office at info@actuaries.org.hk if you would like to join the study group.
